Thos Halleck shipped, some time since, two carloads of cattle to Los Angeles, and he wishes the stockmen of this county to known how he was treated by the butchers and stockyard management at that place. His contract was for 21/2 cents delivered, and he was paid 134 cents. His 1.200 pound steers shrunk on the stockyard scales to 850, and his 53 fine beef steers netted him $450. He was detained by one excuse and another for eight days before he was finally paid for his cattle.
